Can I change my plan after I redeem this promo?

Yes, you can. You will still enjoy the RM10 monthly discount if you opt for an upgrade but any downgrade will result in the forfeiture of the monthly discount.

Please note that you will not be allowed to downgrade your plan within the first 6 months of your contract. The downgrade option will be made available from the 7th month onwards.

What if I terminate my subscription?

If you terminate your subscription within the first 6 months of your contract tenure, you will forfeit the monthly RM10 discount and incur a device penalty equivalent to the value of the free mesh WiFi. This penalty does not apply to the router.

If you terminate your plan within your 24-month contract tenure, you will forfeit the RM10 monthly discount and be subject to an early termination penalty of RM500.

You may sign up online via TIME's website.

If I subscribe during the promotion period but schedule the installation after the validity period, will I still be entitled to the promotion?

Yes, you will still be entitled to the promotion as long as you sign up within the promotion period.

However, if the installation has not taken place within 2 months of your subscription date, your application will be automatically withdrawn and you will no longer be entitled to the promotion.

How do I get the promotion once I have subscribed to the service?

Once your service has been activated, the monthly RM10 discount will be deducted from your broadband subscription fee over the course of 24 months. The entitled discount will be reflected in your monthly bills.

However, other charges such as voice calls, deposits, add-ons, etc. (if any) still apply. If you are entitled for the differently-abled (OKU) discount, you will enjoy the RM10 off your bill from your second month onwards.

The free OmniMesh device will be installed by TIME free of charge upon service activation.
